I'd like to extend a very warm welcome to you all here this evening to Sydney Dogs and Cats Home's second Annual Fundraising Gala.

Tonight, we are celebrating the ongoing achievements of Sydney Dogs and Cats Home over the past year and the way in which the magical bond between people and animals is the essence behind everything that we do. As we have often said, true love can take time, which is why we do not place time limits on any animal awaiting adoption. From the moment an animal arrives at the shelter to the moment it is reunited with its owners or taken to a new home, our staff and volunteers' love for animals drives them to work hard to provide each individual with special care and support for its journey towards their second chance at life.

This special bond also plays a huge role in the success of our community programs, such as our partnership with the Australian Army which, after its launch last year, has gone from strength to strength in continuing to provide support for the rehabilitation of injured trainee soldiers.

Our work with corporate groups, in aged care facilities, and with disability and mental health care facilities, also continues to flourish with positive feedback from participants keen to maintain a connection with Sydney Dogs and Cats Home and the animals in our care.

I believe that the work we do in reuniting animals with their owners and rehoming lost or abandoned pets, as well as our involvement in so many community based programs, is what makes Sydney Dogs and Cats Home unique and a very worthwhile charity to support. We are so very lucky to have such fabulous sponsors and donors on whose generosity we rely to ensure our doors remain open for the 3,000+ animals coming through them each year.

Most of you would know that we have been working towards a move from our current place in Carlton, due to the site being slated for redevelopment. Whilst we do not have any further announcements in relation to the new site at this time, I would like you, our supporters, to know that we are sitting in a very positive place and hope to be able to make an announcement before the end of the year. Your support remains crucial in helping us build a new shelter where we will be able to continue the work we currently do as well expand our community based programs.

I thank you for your attendance tonight and for showing your support to help us achieve the positive outcomes happening each day at Sydney Dogs and Cats Home.

I hope you enjoy your night.
